Details:

Beautiful 5.5 mile out and back hike in the Organ Mountains. This is a moderate hike on an unofficial use trail. There will be some scrambling on rock, a lot of up and down, and steep sections on slippery granite gravel. The overall elevation change will be 1490 feet which is nearly 300 feet more than the nearby Pine Tree Trail. Enjoy the fall colors. Bring water and a snack. Friendly people and great views! Please RSVP to bberger@lcps.net so we can reach you, just in case.
